

Insurvoice.ai Opens Early Adopter Program to Help Insurance Agencies Stop Losing Revenue to After-Hours Missed Calls

Insurvoice.ai invites independent US insurance agents to become founding users and stop losing 74% of their calls outside business hours.

DOVER, DE, UNITED STATES, May 1, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Independent insurance agencies across the United States lose an estimated $120,000 per year to a problem most owners never see on a balance sheet: unanswered calls.

Industry research shows that small P&C agencies miss up to 74% of inbound calls, and that 85% of callers who do not reach an agent on the first attempt never call back — moving instead to whichever competitor picked up.

Insurvoice.ai gives even a two-agent office the call coverage of a much larger firm — without the overhead.”

Insurvoice.ai is an AI-powered voice assistant built exclusively for independent insurance agencies. The platform handles both inbound and outbound calls around the clock — qualifying new leads, processing FNOL intake, answering routine policyholder questions, and running proactive outbound campaigns for policy renewals and prolongations. It operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week, without additional headcount.

Nearly half of all insurance inquiries — 47% — arrive outside standard business hours, during evenings and weekends when agency staff are unavailable. Insurvoice.ai ensures every one of those calls is answered within seconds, with a voice agent trained on insurance-specific knowledge.

The company is now inviting independent insurance agencies across the United States to join its Early Adopter Program. Founding users will receive priority onboarding, direct access to the product team, and the opportunity to shape the platform's development based on their agency's real-world needs.

"Insurance agents are excellent at building client relationships. What they should not have to do is compete with their own voicemail. Insurvoice.ai gives even a two-agent office the call coverage of a much larger firm — without the overhead." — Alex, Co-Founder, Insurvoice.ai

Early adopter agencies can book a demo and apply for founding access at insurvoice.ai.
