

Develo raises $14M for an AI-native pediatric operating system

Unifying clinical, billing, and family engagement beyond the EMR

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, May 11, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Develo, an AI-native operating system for pediatrics, announced today that it has raised $14 million led by Blueprint Equity, with participation from Villain Capital, Z21 Ventures, and Bienville Capital. Angel investors include Chris Sullens, CentralReach CEO; Chris Barton, Community CareLink executive chair and former Cerner executive; and Paul Black, former Allscripts CEO. The capital will accelerate growth across the company, with particular investment in R&D and customer success.

Develo’s pediatric operating system is the first and only AI-native operating system purpose-built for pediatrics to drive impact far beyond what traditional EMR systems deliver.”

Sheldon Lewis, Founding Managing Partner, Blueprint Equity

“Develo’s pediatric operating system is a game-changer. It is the first and only AI-native operating system purpose-built for pediatrics to drive impact far beyond what traditional electronic medical record (EMR) systems deliver,” said Sheldon Lewis, Founding Managing Partner at Blueprint Equity. “We’re proud to support their work in areas that legacy EMR vendors are unable to focus on.”

Beyond covering one in three Americans, pediatric care accounts for more than 450 million annual visits — each one touching not just the patient but the parents and caregivers intimately involved in their child's health. Despite the massive need, most practices utilize decades-old software.

“Pediatric practices run on a patchwork set of tools: a traditional clinical EMR, a standalone intake solution, and an outdated billing system, all with click-heavy, fragmented interfaces driving significant pediatrician dissatisfaction and administrative burden. Practices risk further falling behind as AI innovation accelerates, especially if they look to AI bolt-ons from legacy systems to keep up,” said Dr. Aaron Sin, Develo CEO and co-founder. He added that Develo’s operating system was built from the ground up for pediatrics – unlike EMRs built for adults and retrofitted for pediatric care.

Paul Black, former CEO of Allscripts, noted that AI is “foundational to Develo’s pediatrics operating system, with an embedded AI scribe, automated pediatric charge capture, seamless chart and practice reporting intelligence, and more. Develo’s AI-first approach unifies clinical, billing and family engagement workflows to improve operations, increase revenue, and reinvent the care experience for both patients and parents.”

Develo has seen rapid growth since launch and is currently deployed for hundreds of pediatric providers across more than two dozen states.
