

Skip Bin Co looks to diversify to maintain its cheap skip bin hire prices

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA, May 5, 2026

/EINPresswire.com/ -- In a recent interview with Eleven Media, owner and managing director Nicholas Charles talked of the companies plans for Skip Bin Co to expand into commercial business waste collection "Skip Bin Co has been gaining a lot of traction in the waste industry in Sydney, largely through rising demand for skip bins in the residential construction and civil works sectors.

With the growth of the business, we have invested large sums of money in purchasing extra trucks and bins".

Asked about what the expansion goals look like, Nicholas had this to say "Our plan is to collect a lot more waste than what we are now as our current fleet is only at 70% utilisation. There is an opportunity for us to tap into businesses who have bins on site that get their waste collected weekly. This would ensure our weekly volume of rubbish intake would increase. This allows our yards, trucks and team to increase their capacity. With the increased volume, we would be more efficient and profitable, allowing us to gain economies of scale savings. We have been piloting this in our Perth skip bin operation, and all has been going well.

Nicholas went on to say this "In a growingly competitive industry, Skip Bin Co is focused on delivering cheap skip bin hire in Sydney. If we can get efficiencies and scale across the operation, we can essentially rent our bins at a cheaper price and deliver a product offering that is superior to everyone else in the industry.
