

Hilltip to Host Its First North American Fleet Days Event

Hilltip's Fleet Days event will include presentations and demonstrations of new equipment solutions for winter maintenance professionals.

FORT WAYNE, IN, UNITED STATES, May 5, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Hilltip will host its first-ever North American Fleet Days in Fort Wayne, Ind., on May 21 and 22, 2026, with educational and networking opportunities for winter maintenance professionals. The event will open with product presentations and demonstrations, including equipment updates and multiple new spreader and plow models for the 2026-2027 season. Then, the company will offer technical service trainings and discuss current industry trends throughout the rest of the day.

The program, which runs from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. EDT, will be identical both days to allow participants the flexibility to attend whichever date works best for them. Lunch will be provided, and a networking dinner will also be held the evening of May 21 for attendees to connect with Hilltip's staff and fellow winter maintenance professionals from across North America.

“This event will provide a special sneak peek at our new offerings, as well as valuable product trainings and helpful insights on addressing current trends,” said Craig Sandmann, Managing Director for Hilltip North America. “It's also a great opportunity to see our newly updated North American facility, where we continue to grow our business with industry-leading products and technology for the winter maintenance market.”
