Development Leader Integrates AI CERTs' Industry-Validated Certifications to Help Learners Build Verified AI Credentials and Career-Ready Skills

At Nebula Academy, we help people break into technical careers and help working professionals stay current as the workforce evolves, including with AI.”

Laurie Carey, Founder of We Connect The Dots and Nebula Academy

Nebula Academy, a Charlotte-based professional development organization focused on building resilient, AI-ready professionals and organizations, today announced a strategic partnership with AI CERTs®, the global leader in professional AI and blockchain certifications. The partnership integrates AI CERTs' industry-validated, role-based certifications into Nebula Academy's learning programs, giving learners a verified pathway to AI proficiency grounded in both technical skill and workforce resilience.

Nebula Academy prepares individuals and organizations for the future of work by combining resilience training with practical AI education. As AI continues to reshape roles across every industry, the ability to adapt is just as critical as the ability to execute. Nebula Academy's programs address both, helping learners build the mindset, skills, and credentials they need to stay current and competitive.

Through this partnership, Nebula Academy learners will have access to over 60 role-based AI and blockchain certifications from AI CERTs, adding globally recognized credentials to the workforce-ready skills Nebula Academy develops. Together, the two organizations give learners what the market increasingly demands: people who can lead with AI, implement it responsibly, and bring the resilience to navigate change at ground level.

“At Nebula Academy, we help people break into technical careers and help working professionals stay current as the workforce evolves, including with AI. Partnering with AI CERTs allows our learners to validate role-based AI capabilities with globally recognized certification while they build practical, workplace-ready skills employers can trust. This partnership reflects our commitment to ensuring every learner we serve has both the capability and the credentials to thrive in an AI-driven world.”

— Laurie Carey, CEO and Chief AI Officer, Nebula Academy

“Nebula Academy’s commitment to rapid, high-impact workforce development makes them an ideal partner to scale our mission. We are thrilled to bring our role-specific AI certifications to their learners and professional development participants. This collaboration is about more than just education; it’s about ensuring that as professionals build real-world capability and career-ready portfolios, they are also building a foundation of certified technical excellence that will set them apart in the global job market.”

— Russell Sarder, Chairman & CEO, AI CERTs®

Beyond individual upskilling, the partnership is designed to support institutional transformation. Nebula Academy will leverage AI CERTs’ role-based framework to help learners and client organizations identify critical talent gaps, build sustainable AI roadmaps, and ensure their teams are prepared to implement AI strategically and ethically across business functions. This holistic approach aligns with Nebula
