

Deck Remodelers Highlights Hidden Safety Risks During National Deck Safety Month

Industry professional Sean McAleer encourages homeowners to inspect aging outdoor structures as peak season begins

SPARTA, NJ, UNITED STATES, May 19, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- As homeowners across the country prepare to spend more time outdoors, Sean McAleer, owner of Deck Remodelers and author of Deck Rebellion, is drawing attention to an often overlooked issue: Deck Safety.

In recognition of National Deck Safety Month this May, McAleer is encouraging homeowners to evaluate the structural condition of their decks, many of which may be approaching or exceeding their intended lifespan.

"Many homeowners focus on aesthetic - furniture, lighting, and finishes - but structural safety is a critical consideration," said McAleer. "We frequently encounter decks that are 15-25 years old and were not built to current standards."

Industry estimates indicate that a large number of residential decks in North America are more than 20 years old, a stage at which components such as ledger boards, fasteners, and footings may deteriorate without proper maintenance.

Deck Remodelers, a New Jersey-based design and build firm, is using this seasonal milestone to share common indicators of potential structural concerns, including:

- Loose or unstable railings
- Corroded fasteners or hardware
- Soft or deteriorating wood

Deck Remodelers is a full-service design-build firm specializing in luxury outdoor living environments.

Improperly attached ledger boards
Visible sagging or shifting

“Even decks that appear well-maintained can have underlying structural issues,” McAleer added. “A professional inspection can help identify potential risks before they lead to failure.”

As part of its Deck Safety Month efforts, the company is also sharing information from McAleer’s published work, which documents project examples and outlines design and construction considerations related to safety and durability.

Homeowners are encouraged to schedule professional inspections or perform basic visual checks before peak summer use.

Sean McAleer
Deck Remodelers
media@deckremodelers.com

Visit us on social media:

Instagram

Facebook

LinkedIn

YouTube

TikTok

Other

Deck Rebellion by Sean McAleer showcases the evolution of outdoor living into a design-driven extension of the home, highlighting real-world projects that define the modern luxury backyard movement.

This expansive outdoor living project by Deck Remodelers extends the home into a fully functional backyard environment, combining covered spaces, lighting, and landscape design to support everyday living and large-scale entertaining.

This full-property outdoor living design by Deck Remodelers integrates a covered deck, pool, and surrounding landscape lighting into a cohesive environment that supports both large-scale entertaining and everyday outdoor living.

This press release can be viewed online at: <https://www.einpresswire.com/article/913088130>

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire™, tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information.

© 1995-2026 Newsmatics Inc. All Right Reserved.