Reign Capital Partners' founder, Blaine McClure, Sells Remaining Ownership Interest in Aqualis Corporation

NEW YORK CITY, NY, UNITED STATES, September 3, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Reign Capital Partners, the family office of entrepreneur and investor English Blaine McClure, of Greenwich, CT announces the successful sale of its' remaining ownership interest in Aqualis Corporation to Fusion Capital Partners. The transaction marks the final exit of Reign Capital Partners from Aqualis, a company founded by Blaine McClure in 2007 that has grown into one of the nation's leading providers of stormwater management, engineering, water quality, and environmental infrastructure services.

The sale represents the culmination of nearly two decades of leadership, strategic growth, and operational excellence. Since its founding, Aqualis has evolved from a regional environmental services company into a nationally recognized platform serving commercial, industrial, governmental, and municipal clients across the United States and expanded territories.

Blaine McClure founded Aqualis with a vision of building a best-in-class environmental services organization focused on protecting water resources while helping clients navigate increasingly complex regulatory and infrastructure challenges. Over the years, the company expanded its capabilities through strategic acquisitions, geographic growth, and investments in engineering, maintenance, compliance, and environmental solutions designed to address the growing demands of water quality management nationwide.

"Building Aqualis has been one of the most rewarding experiences of my career," said McClure. "What began in 2007 as a focused entrepreneurial vision became a national organization dedicated to delivering essential environmental and infrastructure solutions. I am incredibly proud of the team we built, the culture we created, and the long-term value generated for our clients, employees, and stakeholders."

Under McClure's leadership, the company executed a growth strategy focused on geographic expansion, operational scale, and service diversification. Aqualis built a national footprint while maintaining a strong commitment to customer service and technical performance across its operations.
"The executive team at Aqualis, together with Fusion Capital Partners, are well positioned to expand on the company's growth and will continue to provide unparalleled services in the water quality and stormwater management sector," said McClure. "I am incredibly proud of what the Aqualis team has accomplished over the last 19 years. From the beginning, our mission was to create an organization committed to operational excellence, innovation, environmental stewardship, and long-term client relationships. Today, Aqualis stands as a national leader in its industry, and I have tremendous confidence in the company's future. The success of Aqualis has always been driven by the dedication and professionalism of its' employees. I want to sincerely thank our team members, clients, partners, and stakeholders who contributed to the company's success over the years. Their commitment and trust are the foundation of this incredible organization".

McClure added that the transaction with Fusion Capital Partners positions the company for continued expansion in a sector experiencing significant long-term growth driven by aging infrastructure, increased environmental regulations, climate resilience initiatives, and heightened public and private investment in water-related infrastructure.

Financial terms of the transaction were not disclosed.
