The collaboration with the very well-established facility was invaluable to understand their stringent, and sometimes unique requirements, was invaluable to develop and adapt our offering to meet their needs. The result of the four-year real-world testing proved the Gleam Chemicals Australia products and methods met the expectations of the sector.

John Chiha, CEO of Gleam Chemicals Australia, said this when interviewed by Senna Media, "The 48-month trial of our chemical solutions vindicated our products are at the cutting edge of aged care facility expectations. A lot of hard work has gone into the trial but this has all been worthwhile for our clients to now see documented validation of what we have been saying about our products and recommended systems for the aged care sector for some time now."

Gleam has a long history of developing cleaning and sanitation products. Today, it supplies a wide array of cleaning and sanitation needs to customers all over the world. They work together with customers across divisional markets and geographic boundaries to provide solutions and services to many industries.
