“This election isn’t abstract for women—it’s personal. Our rights are being stripped away day by day, and the answer is simple—elect feminist candidates who won’t back down,” said Kim Villanueva, president of NOW and chair of NOW PAC, in endorsing Alexander.

“Tim knows what matters most to women—our economic security, protecting our healthcare, and ensuring equality. By electing him to Congress from New Jersey’s 2nd District, we will protect what matters most to women.”

“I’m honored and grateful to receive the endorsement of NOW,” Alexander said. “It reflects a core value I share with Kim and NOW—‘we, not me’—and a main reason why I chose to practice civil rights law.

“I will bring this core value with me to Congress, where it is sorely needed, and where I will fight for the rights of all Americans, as well as my neighbors and constituents in the 2nd District, regardless of political affiliation.”

Alexander has also been endorsed by four of five counties in the 2nd District – Atlantic, Ocean, Cumberland, and Salem, UNITE HERE Local 54, which represents workers in the hospitality industry, Indivisible: Empathy United, and a host of elected officials.
