

MACH Expands Roaming Clearing Services in South America

MACH's Emphasis on a Customer-First Approach Results in Their Selection by a Major South American Operator

SENNINGERBERG, LUXEMBOURG, May 28, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- MACH strengthened its presence in South America with their selection by a leading regional mobile network operator (MNO) for Data Clearing \(DCH\), Financial Clearing \(FCH\), and Near Real Time Roaming Data Exchange (NRTRDE) services.

This expansion of MACH's clearing and settlement footprint in the region reflects the company's continued focus on supporting operators with roaming, settlement, and fraud prevention capabilities aligned with evolving industry requirements.

MACH's Data and Financial Clearing services support operators through data exchange, billing validation, reconciliation, and settlement processes in accordance with GSMA standards. The scope of this engagement also includes NRTRDE-based roaming fraud monitoring and prevention capabilities.

"We are pleased to announce our expansion in South America. Our selection reflects MACH's clearing and settlement expertise and deep commitment to building meaningful and successful relationships with our partner operators. In collaboration with Tata Communications' global connectivity and extensive roaming ecosystem capabilities, we are enabling the operator for more efficient, secure, and reliable roaming operations." – Simon McDowell, Senior Vice President and General Manager at MACH.
