The mini-series brings together Workstream's hospitality workforce technology platform with The Hospitality Hangout's audience of restaurant operators, franchise leaders, and industry decision makers, captured in the energy of one of the restaurant industry's most important annual events.

The four featured episodes of "We Heart Hospitality" spotlight conversations with top restaurant executives:

- Kevin King, CEO, Donatos Pizza

- Jasmine Miller, CEO, Beyond Juice
- Amy Hom, COO, Barcelona Wine Bar
- Chris Noffze, Director of Operations, Gong Cha America

Together, these leaders discuss workforce challenges, restaurant operations, hiring and retention, labor trends, hospitality technology, and what the future of restaurant staffing looks like on the ground. All four episodes are dropping in June 2026.

"Partnering with Workstream gave us the opportunity to have the kinds of conversations we love most. Real, substantive talks with operators about what is actually keeping them up at night. Workforce is one of the defining challenges in hospitality right now, and this series brought some of the best minds in the business to the table."
