AuditPartners LLC, a Dallas based IT audit and AI governance consulting firm, today announced that it has become an approved EC-Council training partner and launched AuditHive, a redesigned online learning platform offering professional cybersecurity and ISO audit certifications.

AuditHive - IT Training

AuditHive brings two globally recognized certification tracks together in one destination.

Cybersecurity and audit are converging, and the professionals who can work confidently across both will lead the next decade of this industry.”

Faisal Shafiullah, Founder and CEO, AuditPartners

Through the EC-Council partnership, the platform offers cybersecurity credentials including the Certified Ethical Hacker (CEH), Certified Penetration Testing Professional (CPENT), Computer Hacking Forensic Investigator (CHFI), Certified Network Defender (CND), and Certified Chief Information Security Officer (CCISO). As an official PECB training partner, AuditHive also offers ISO certifications including ISO/IEC 27001, ISO/IEC 27701, and ISO/IEC 42001 Lead Auditor and Lead Implementer.

With the redesigned website now live, every course is available to browse, purchase, and begin immediately. All programs are self-paced and fully online, allowing professionals to train around existing work and commitments. There are no fixed class schedules and no travel required.

AuditHive also offers group and company-wide training for organizations seeking to certify entire security and compliance functions. Group programs offer organizations one trusted training partner for team certification, with group rates across the full course catalog.

"Cybersecurity and audit are converging, and the professionals who can work confidently across both will lead the next decade of this industry," said Faisal Shafiullah, Founder and Chief Executive Officer of AuditPartners. "We built AuditHive so that earning these skills no longer requires putting a career or a life on hold. These are the certifications the industry trusts, and now anyone can earn them on their own time.

The launch reflects growing demand for professionals who understand both technical security and the management systems that govern it, including rising interest in ISO/IEC 42001 for artificial intelligence management systems.

Courses are available now at AuditHive.AuditPartners.com. Organizations interested in group or company-wide training can request information directly through the site.
