each quarter for services such as tree removal, trimming, stump grinding, storm cleanup, or emergency tree services. The first recipient will be selected in Spring 2026.

“Our community has been our foundation since day one,” said Caleb Rausch, owner and founder of Rausch Tree & Outdoor Services. “Veterans served our nation, first responders protect us daily, and seniors built this community. We step in when safety becomes a financial burden. This is how we give back.”

Overgrown, damaged, or storm-damaged trees pose serious risks to homes, vehicles, and personal safety, especially for those on fixed incomes. According to the Insurance Information Institute, falling trees and limbs account for thousands of property damage claims annually across the United States, making preventive tree care essential for homeowner safety.

With decades of field experience and specialized equipment—including crane-assisted removals and 24/7 emergency response—Rausch Tree & Outdoor Services delivers professional, property-respecting work that protects both people and property. The company already offers military, senior, and first responder discounts on all services. The Community Roots Initiative represents an expanded commitment to supporting these groups within the local community.
