The state of Texas is covered in billboards, but a billboard doesn't win a case in a courtroom”

Mike Karns

The Corporate Reality: Commercial Crashes vs. Passenger Car Accidents

Litigating a collision involving an 18-wheeler, a commercial delivery van, or a corporate fleet vehicle is vastly different from a standard passenger car accident. Corporate defendants are backed by multi-billion dollar insurance conglomerates and aggressive legal teams that deploy immediate rapid-response units to accident scenes to minimize liability.

"When a commercial vehicle or 18-wheeler causes a catastrophic crash on a Texas highway, the corporate insurance companies go into damage control immediately," said Bill Karns, founding partner. "They use every tactic in the book to delay, deny, and devalue your claim. To match that power, a victim cannot rely on high-volume marketing. You need an aggressive, trial-ready law firm that knows how to cut through the corporate red tape."

The Texas Trend: Marketing Companies vs. Trial Law Firms

As highways across Texas see a massive increase in commercial shipping traffic, communities are also seeing an explosion of legal advertising. Karns & Karns cautions the public to look closely at who is actually handling their complex trucking claims.

"The state of Texas is covered in billboards, but a billboard doesn't win a case in a courtroom," said Mike Karns, founding partner. "Many high-volume advertising operations function primarily as marketing companies. They gather cases and look for the quickest, easiest settlement, or they quietly pass the file to an outside firm when a trial becomes necessary. At Karns & Karns, we handle our litigation in-house. Insurance carriers know exactly which attorneys actually step in front of a jury, and that courtroom reputation is what forces them to pay top dollar."

Elite Lone Star Advocacy: Meet Luis Espinoza and Veronica De Leon

Karns & Karns manages its complex Texas trucking claims through a dedicated, elite team of attorneys and case managers who treat every file with meticulous detail. The litigation unit is anchored by two premier Texas trial lawyers:

Luis Espinoza, Trial Attorney: A graduate of the University of Texas at Austin and Baylor Law School, Espinoza brings deep roots in advocacy. Having dedicated his entire career to fighting for the injured, his relentless courtroom preparation has successfully recovered millions of dollars on behalf of his clients.

Veronica De Leon, Trial Attorney: A native Texan who earned degrees from the University of Texas at Brownsville and St. Mary's University, De Leon brings a uniquely powerful background to trucking litigation. Having previously represented defendant insurance companies, she knows the exact corporate playbook used to devalue claims and leverages that inside knowledge to secure maximum justice for plaintiffs.
