Florida-based MMJ Health has announced reduced-cost physician consultations for new patients at $99, available at 21 statewide locations through June 2026.

FLORIDA, FL, UNITED STATES, June 9, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Physician-led cannabis consultations now available at reduced cost for first-time patients statewide through June 2026.

MMJ Health, a Florida-based medical marijuana evaluation provider operating across 21 statewide locations, has announced a reduced-cost evaluation option for new patients. Priced at $99, the consultation offer is available through the end of June 2026 and applies exclusively to first-time MMJ Health patients.

The evaluation includes a one-on-one consultation with a licensed Florida provider, a medical cannabis eligibility assessment against Florida's qualifying conditions, and support from MMJ Health's patient services team. Both in-person and telehealth appointments are available.

About the Evaluation Process

Florida's Medical Marijuana Use Act requires patients to receive a physician recommendation before obtaining a medical marijuana card. Qualifying conditions include chronic pain, anxiety, PTSD, sleep disorders, and other debilitating conditions as defined under state law.

New patients who complete the evaluation and do not receive a physician recommendation are eligible for a full refund of the evaluation fee under MMJ Health's stated refund policy.

"We want every qualifying Floridian to have an easy, affordable path to the care they may need," said a spokesperson for MMJ Health. "This offer is about removing friction so patients can have a real conversation with a licensed provider without worrying about cost."
