Entertainment is proud to announce the expansion of its creative media operations throughout The Bahamas and into international markets.

Founded by Alan Yartey and Conor Clarke, the company has established itself as a growing force in video production, commercial content creation, live event coverage, broadcasting, aerial cinematography, and digital media services. As part of its continued growth, twin brothers Kirk Beneby Jr. and Kristian Beneby have joined the leadership team as co-owners, helping guide the company's next phase of development.

The expansion reflects years of experience working across film, television, music videos, documentaries, commercial productions, live broadcasts, and corporate media projects throughout The Bahamas, the United States, and beyond.

The leadership team brings a diverse background in production management, cinematography, lighting, broadcasting, drone operations, and creative direction. Through partnerships and collaborations with organizations and production companies including Tinydoor, T&T Media, TCFilmz, and other industry professionals, 4Tech Entertainment continues to build a reputation for delivering high-quality visual storytelling and production services.

4Tech Entertainment's leadership team Kirk and Kristian Beneby, Alan Yartey, and Conor Clarke continues to drive the company's growth in film, television, live production, and digital media across The Bahamas, the United States, and international markets.

Alan Yartey continues to lead commercial and real estate media projects, including content development initiatives in Ghana and other international markets. Conor Clarke oversees operational strategy and business development while supporting the company's growing production portfolio.

Kirk Beneby Jr. and Kristian Beneby have contributed to a wide range of film, television, commercial, and live broadcast productions, bringing extensive technical and creative leadership experience to the company. Their work spans production management, lighting, camera operations, broadcast direction, and large-scale content creation.

As 4Tech Entertainment expands internationally, the company remains committed to providing innovative media solutions, professional production services, and compelling visual content for businesses, brands, organizations, and audiences worldwide.
