360 FINANCIAL NAMED TO MINNEAPOLIS/ST. PAUL BUSINESS JOURNAL'S 2026 BEST PLACES TO WORK

360 Financial has been named to the Minneapolis/St. Paul Business Journal's 2026 Best Places to Work list—earning the recognition for the third consecutive year and the fourth time overall. The firm was honored in the Extra Small category (10–24 Minnesota employees), with rankings determined solely by confidential employee survey feedback from Quantum Workplace.

Our culture is built the same way we build every financial plan—people first. That's not an accident. It's the foundation."

Mike Rogers, AIF®, President & Founder, 360 Financial

Surveys evaluate team dynamics, trust in leadership, communication, career development opportunities, and inclusion. No fees are charged to participate—the recognition is based solely on what employees say.

"Our culture is built the same way we build every financial plan—people first. That's not an accident. It's the foundation."

Consistency as a Culture Signal
Winning once can be a good year. Winning three years in a row is a pattern—and for a firm with 14 team members, five of whom have been with 360 Financial for more than five years and two for over 25, that pattern reflects something real. The same values that shape client relationships—alignment, transparency, long-term thinking—define how the team operates day to day.

Founded in 1995, 360 Financial has grown from a single-advisor practice into one of Minnesota's leading fiduciary wealth management firms. The culture has scaled alongside the firm because it was built intentionally, not inherited by accident.

What This Means for Clients

A stable, engaged team is a direct client benefit. It means continuity of relationships, institutional knowledge that doesn't walk out the door, and advisors who are invested in outcomes—not just transactions. At 360 Financial, the people who know your plan are the same people who have been there for years and seek to remain your partners for the long term.
