Designed for travelers seeking a truly comprehensive exploration of America's Last Frontier, the new offering tackles what has long been considered one of the most logistically complex travel feats in North America. Spanning vast and remote terrain, the itinerary seamlessly connects all eight parks, many of which are only accessible by bush plane or boat, into one thoughtfully curated journey.

This is more than a bucket list trip, it's a once-in-a-lifetime journey that showcases the scale, wild beauty, and unique character of Alaska in a way that very few travelers will ever experience.”

Cory Lawrence, President & CEO of Off the Beaten Path

“Visiting all eight of Alaska's national parks has traditionally required extensive planning, multiple modes of transportation, and a high tolerance for logistical challenges,” said Cory Lawrence, president and CEO of Off the Beaten Path.

“We created this experience to remove those barriers and offer travelers a seamless, expertly guided way to experience the full breadth and beauty of Alaska in a single, unforgettable journey.”

With over four decades of expertise in crafting immersive travel experiences, Off the Beaten Path leverages its deep regional knowledge and trusted local partnerships to bring this ambitious itinerary to life. The journey incorporates a mix of private air travel, scenic rail, and overland exploration, allowing guests to access some of the most remote and awe-inspiring landscapes in the United States.

Highlights of the Alaska National Park Grand Slam include:

- Exploration of all eight national parks, from iconic Denali to rarely visited Gates of the Arctic and Kobuk Valley
