ERIE, PA, UNITED STATES, June 10, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Logistics Plus, Inc. (LP), a global leader in transportation, logistics, and unique supply chain solutions, is proud to announce that it has been named a 2026 G75 Green Supply Chain Partner by Inbound Logistics magazine. The annual Green 75 awards recognize supply chain companies, 3PLs, and carriers that exhibit exceptional environmental stewardship, sustainable operations, and a commitment to going green every day.

As noted in the Inbound Logistics G75 listing:

In 2021, Logistics Plus became the first logistics company to achieve Plastic Neutrality certification through Ocean Integrity's Blue Ocean Program. The company has maintained that certification for five consecutive years, financing the collection of more than 3.5 million kilograms of ocean plastic waste—more than 100 times its own plastic footprint. The company's sustainability initiatives also focus on power efficiency: Its warehouses run on 99% electric forklifts, solar energy powers roughly 20% of its warehouse operations, and all facilities utilize LED lighting and energy-efficient electronics across its network.

The updated G75 list appears in the June 2026 Sustainability edition of Inbound Logistics magazine in both print and digital formats. The digital format will soon be available at <https://www.inboundlogistics.com/digital-editions/>.

In related news, last week Logistics Plus was presented with its sixth consecutive Plastic Neutrality certification as part of Ocean Integrity's Blue Oceans Program. This year alone, Logistics Plus assisted in the retrieval of nearly 100,000 pounds of plastic in collaboration with Ocean Integrity.

"Please congratulate Logistics Plus for its partnership with oceanintegrity.org and for helping [Ocean Integrity] collect more plastic waste from our waterways on a yearly basis than what they use," commented Captain Keiran Kelly, Founder and CEO of Ocean Integrity. "We cannot operate without companies like them."
