This year’s World Environment Day theme focuses on Climate Action. The United Nations has called attention to the importance of listening to the signals the planet is sending, including rising sea levels, extreme droughts, and wildfires, and responding with positive and sustainable solutions such as protecting natural resources, promoting efficient water use, advancing renewable energy, and strengthening resilient infrastructure.

In a state like Texas, where water availability and extreme weather events continue to create growing challenges for local communities, MDS Aqualia highlights the importance of promoting responsible water consumption and environmental resilience.

“Local communities play a critical role in protecting water resources and the environment. At MDS Aqualia, we are committed to developing sustainable solutions that help preserve this essential resource for future generations,” the company stated.

As part of its environmental and social commitment, MDS Aqualia continues to support initiatives aimed at strengthening environmental awareness and encouraging sustainable practices, including:

- Participation in forums and community discussions centered on sustainability, water resilience, and climate action.
- Community outreach activities and awareness campaigns promoting water conservation and reduced environmental impact.
- Encouraging responsible everyday practices aligned with the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

Through these efforts, MDS Aqualia seeks to strengthen collaboration among residents, local institutions, and businesses to help address today’s environmental challenges and support the sustainable growth of Texas communities.

On World Environment Day, the company encourages individuals and organizations alike to take part in small daily actions that can create a lasting positive impact on the planet, reinforcing that protecting water and the environment is a shared responsibility.

The poster features the Aqualia logo at the top right with the tagline "Your water company." Below the logo is a large photograph of a waterfall cascading down a rocky cliff, with a young child in a yellow shirt and backpack looking up at it. On the left side, a circular diagram illustrates the water cycle with various icons: a person showering, water droplets, a hand holding a glass, a water tap, a person in a hard hat, and a person in a lab coat. Below the diagram, the text reads "MUCH MORE than what meets the eye". Further down, a paragraph states: "We are a global operator present in 19 countries and our more than 14,000 professionals work every day with a clear purpose: to guarantee efficient water management that builds climate resilience and ensures people's well-being. We care for every drop: we capture it, treat it, purify it and return it to nature, protecting ecosystems and supporting the communities so that water is a vital and sustainable resource for today and for the future." Below this is the text "Committed to the efficient management of the integral water cycle. A commitment to you." At the bottom, there is a "stepWATER" logo and a "WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY Act for Climate" logo. The Aqualia website "aqualia.com" is also visible.
