

Moving Ahead Services Launches Instant Moving Estimate Tool, Giving Customers Real Pricing in Minutes

New online feature replaces the wait-for-a-callback model with an itemized, instant moving quote — no phone call required.

CLEVELAND, OH, UNITED STATES, June 9, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Moving Ahead Services, a full-service moving company specializing in local, long-distance, and commercial relocations, today announced the launch of its new Instant Moving Estimate tool, now live on the company's website. The feature lets customers build a detailed inventory of their move and receive a transparent price estimate in minutes — without waiting for a return phone call or scheduling an in-home survey.

Most online "quote" forms simply collect a customer's contact information and promise a callback. The MAS Instant Moving Estimate goes further: as customers select the rooms and items they're moving, the tool calculates the recommended crew size, estimated hours, and a clear price range in real time, putting accurate numbers in front of customers the moment they need them.

"People shopping for a mover want a real answer, not a runaround," said Jeff Collins, Owner at Moving Ahead Services. "We built this so a customer can sit down, tell us what they're moving, and see honest pricing right on the screen. It respects their time, and it reflects how we like to do business — transparently."

The tool walks customers through a simple two-step process:

Step one captures the essentials — name, contact information, move date, and the origin and destination addresses, with address autocomplete to keep entry fast and accurate.

Step two lets customers build an itemized inventory using quick-pick move-size options and a room-by-room checklist, while flagging details that affect the job, such as stairs, elevators, and heavy specialty items.

From there, the tool generates an instant estimate that includes a price range, recommended crew size, hourly rate, estimated hours, and travel fee, along with options to book, schedule a survey, or have the estimate emailed for later. Because a coordinator is notified the moment a customer begins, the MAS team can follow up quickly with anyone who wants to finalize the details.

"Scheduling a move shouldn't feel like a mystery," added Jeff Collins. "The more informed our customers are up front, the smoother the entire experience is for everyone."
