

New Chapters Moving Shares Tips to Beat the Jacksonville Summer Rush

Jacksonville's top-rated movers explain how to book early and dodge peak-season stress as summer relocations surge across Duval and St. Johns counties.

JACKSONVILLE, FL, UNITED STATES, June 10, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- JACKSONVILLE, Fla. -

Every summer we see the same thing. People wait until two weeks out, and by then the best dates are gone. The families who book early get the date they want and a calmer move.”

Summer is the busiest stretch of the year for relocations, and New Chapters Moving Company is urging local families to plan ahead before the season's demand peaks. With school out and leases turning over, the company says June through August consistently brings the highest move volume across Duval, St. Johns, and Clay counties.

For households trying to time a move, the message from the family-owned company is simple: book early. As one of the most-requested movers Jacksonville, FL has to offer, New Chapters fills its summer calendar weeks in advance, and end-of-month dates go first.

"Every summer we see the same thing. People wait until two weeks out, and by then the best dates are gone," said Gio, founder of New Chapters Moving Company. "The families who book early get the date they actually want and a calmer move."

The company shared a few practical tips for anyone planning a summer relocation in Northeast Florida:

Book four to six weeks out. Peak dates, especially the last and first few days of the month, are claimed quickly. Reserving early locks in your preferred date and crew.

Beat the heat with an early start. Jacksonville summers are hot and humid, and afternoon storms are common. Morning move slots keep crews and belongings out of the worst of it.

Plan around building rules. Apartment communities in Baymeadows and condos at the Beaches often require reserved elevators, certificates of insurance, and set move-in windows. Confirming these early prevents day-of delays.
