Sustained recognition across design and service, over multiple years, is the most honest signal we can offer a homeowner who is trying to vet a firm from the outside.”

Gina Palombo-Dinkel, Co-Founder.

For homeowners vetting a firm for a substantial remodel, repeated recognition across both categories is a meaningful signal. The Service awards reflect a consistent client experience over multiple years, and the Design awards reflect work the Houzz community returns to. Together they speak to the two things high-budget homeowners weigh most: that the process will hold and that the finished work will meet a higher standard.

D&G Construction works as a single accountable team across design, permitting, and construction, delivering whole-home remodels, basement finishes, and kitchen remodels for high-budget homeowners in Boulder County. The firm designs and specifies every detail before construction begins, coordinates all trades in-house, and keeps clients informed with weekly updates.
