“This agreement reflects ECMS’s ongoing commitment to strong technical support and service responsiveness for our aerospace customers,” said Olivia Cromwell, Global Business Director for the ECMS aerospace business. “By partnering with Seal Dynamics, who is recognized for its engineering expertise and customer engagement, we can enhance service levels and deliver our aftermarket cabin air quality solutions more effectively across these regions.”

This agreement helps ECMS strengthen relationships with customers and maintenance providers while supporting the continued expansion of its aerospace business in strategic markets.

“We are excited to team with ECMS to support and expand the install base of their new Volatile Organic Compound/Ozone Converter (VOZC) technology and other cabin air quality solutions, which will increase reliability, passenger experience and sustainable operations,” said Rick Tonney, Senior Vice President of Sales, Marketing and Business Development, Seal Dynamics. “We will leverage our technical sales team and customer relationships to promote and differentiate the value of ECMS ozone converter products and repair solutions as the most advanced and effective in the market.”
