Oracle has been a valued partner for more than a decade, and this milestone is incredibly meaningful as we celebrate 25 years of impact.”

Savita Raj, CEO of Techbridge Girls

Oracle’s continued support reflects a shared commitment to expanding opportunity, fostering belonging, and investing in the next generation of talent. Over the years, this partnership has helped fuel Techbridge Girls’ national programs, educator training initiatives, and community-based efforts that reach thousands of students annually.

“Oracle has been a valued partner for more than a decade, and this milestone is incredibly meaningful as we celebrate 25 years of impact,” said Savita Raj, CEO of Techbridge Girls. “Their continued investment in our Bay Area programs reflects a deep, shared commitment to ensuring that all girls have the opportunity to explore, thrive, and lead in STEM.”

Since 2013, Oracle’s support has helped power Techbridge Girls’ hands-on STEM programming, educator training, and community partnerships—equipping thousands of students with the skills, confidence, and sense of belonging needed to pursue STEM pathways.

As Techbridge Girls looks toward its next 25 years, support like this remains critical to scaling impact and advancing systemic change in STEM education nationwide.

About Techbridge Girls

Techbridge Girls (TBG) is a national nonprofit on a mission to transform STEM education so that all girls—especially Black, Latina, Indigenous, and gender-expansive youth—can see themselves as leaders, innovators, and change agents in STEM.

Now celebrating 25 years of impact, TBG designs joyful, rigorous, and culturally relevant programs that equip educators and ignite girls’ confidence and brilliance. With a systemic approach that reaches across classrooms, communities, and institutions, Techbridge Girls is not just expanding opportunity—we’re rewriting the STEM narrative for the next 25 years and beyond.
