DENVER, CO, UNITED STATES, June 11, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Rafi Law Group, Arizona's premier personal injury law firm, announced today the opening of a new office in Denver, marking the firm's first location outside Arizona and a significant milestone in its national expansion strategy.

Located at 1380 South Santa Fe Drive, Denver, CO 80223, the Denver office represents the firm's entry into the Colorado market and reflects the firm's continued growth.

"Opening our first office outside Arizona is an exciting milestone for our firm," said Rafi Law Group Founder and CEO Brandon B. Rafi. "Denver is a dynamic and growing community, and we're proud to bring the same client-first approach and dedication to results that have defined our work in Arizona."

The Denver-based team will provide the same client-focused personal injury representation that has made Rafi Law Group a trusted name in Arizona. The firm represents individuals injured due to the negligence of others, including cases involving motor vehicle accidents, premises liability, and other serious personal injury matters.

"With the operational support and infrastructure we've built, we're well-positioned to expand responsibly into new markets while maintaining the high level of service our clients expect," Rafi added.

Founded in 2015, the firm was built on the belief that legal advocacy and community service belong together. That belief has shaped a company culture where impact is intentional, measurable, and sustained.
