NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, June 11, 2026

/EINPresswire.com/ -- In a profoundly intimate and fiercely honest new memoir, GOD: Creator, Friend and Lover, Dr. Diane D. Carter chronicles a lifelong journey of overcoming trauma and discovering a transcendent connection with the Divine. Published by Spines, this captivating book challenges traditional religious narratives, offering an authentic look at how one woman found ultimate healing, unwavering protection, and radical love through a highly personal relationship with God.

Set against the backdrop of a demanding career as a healthcare professional and actor, Dr. Carter's narrative navigates the complexities of her life—from surviving an abusive relationship and overcoming illness to embracing her "Season of Singleness" with newfound strength. Rejecting the rigid, fear-based religious teachings of her youth, Dr. Carter embarked on a quest to truly know her Creator.

Through vivid storytelling, GOD explores how the author learned to hear the gentle voice of the Divine in the quiet moments of her meditation room and even amidst the chaos of a devastating car crash. Dr. Carter intimately details her shift from relying on unhealthy earthly relationships to placing total dependence on a Creator she views as a devoted protector, a trusted confidant, and an ultimate source of unconditional love. Her story emphasizes that true spiritual fulfillment often requires enduring seasons of solitude and silence to properly align with one's divine purpose.
