

Salem Chimney Safety Initiative Launches Free Structural Inspections

Water damage does not just stick to the roofline. Lower walls and home foundations take a beating from wet soil and wind too.

SALEM, OR, UNITED STATES, June 11, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Constant rain and freezing winter temperatures are taking a heavy toll on local chimneys this year. To help folks protect their homes, Fan Chimney Service and Masonry just rolled out a brand-new safety program. The company is offering completely free safety checks to catch hidden brick and stone damage before the next big rainy season hits.

A lot of water damage starts where people cannot see it, right behind the outer walls. Plenty of homeowners miss tiny cracks in their exterior brickwork, but these small gaps let water seep inside over time. Fan Chimney Service and Masonry launched these free checks to show people how to spot and fix these issues before they turn into major headaches. Our goal is to help local property owners identify these weak spots early, saving them from emergency structural failures when the heavy rains return."''
