

New Book Explores the Ancient Exodus Story as a Framework for Navigating Modern Chaos, Conflict, and AI

ALBUQUERQUE, NM, UNITED STATES, June 15, 2026

/EINPresswire.com/ -- The story of the Exodus is more than an ancient religious account. According to author and scholar Dr. Dinah Dye, it has become one of the most influential stories in history. At a time of political division, technological change, and uncertainty about the future, Dye argues that this ancient story offers insight into challenges that societies still face. In her book, "The Greatest Exodus: A Divine Warrior Tradition," she explores how the Exodus shaped ideas about leadership, identity, and social order.

"The Exodus is one of the great stories of Western civilization," says Dye. "Its influence can be seen wherever people seek freedom from oppression."

Placing the Exodus within the wider world of ancient civilizations, Dye examines how previous cultures understood power, conflict, and the ever-present threat of chaos. Against that backdrop, the biblical story presents a distinctive vision of deliverance. The book also considers how ancient ideas intersect with modern questions. As artificial intelligence reshapes society, Dye argues that the Exodus still has something to say about power, freedom, and the responsibilities that come with both.

It begins with slavery and ends with the formation of a people. That journey still has something to teach us.”

Rooted in her Jewish heritage and family Passover traditions, Dye combines personal experience with historical research to trace the Exodus pattern throughout Scripture. Along the way, she uncovers connections that many modern readers have never considered.

“The Exodus is ultimately a story about transformation,” says Dye. “It begins with slavery and ends with the formation of a people. That journey still has something to teach us."

Readers interested in history, ancient cultures, biblical studies, and the stories that have shaped civilization will find much to consider in "The Greatest Exodus: A Divine Warrior Tradition."
