A Firm Built on Insider Knowledge and Trial Experience

John Merrick earned his J.D. cum laude from the University of Richmond School of Law and his undergraduate degree from Sewanee — The University of the South. Before founding Merrick Brock, John spent more than a decade defending insurance companies in personal injury litigation. That experience gave him a firsthand look at the tactics insurers use to undervalue claims and push cases toward low settlements. He now applies that insight on behalf of plaintiffs, with a strong preference for taking cases to trial when necessary.

John has been recognized as a Virginia Business Legal Elite – Young Lawyer, a Virginia Super Lawyers Rising Star, and received the Young Lawyer of the Year Award from the Richmond Bar Association in 2014. He has tried dozens of cases across Virginia and argued successfully before the Virginia Supreme Court.

Les Brock received his undergraduate degree in Economics cum laude from the University of Georgia and his J.D. from Washington and Lee University School of Law. After graduating, he served as a judicial law clerk to the Honorable A. Christian Compton, Senior Justice of the Supreme Court of Virginia. Like John, Les spent the early part of his career defending large corporations and multinational insurers in state and federal courts across Virginia before concluding that his skills and values were better suited to representing those harmed by corporate negligence. Les has been recognized as a Virginia Legal Elite honoree in 2016, 2018, 2019, 2020, 2024, and 2025 and has been named to the Virginia Super Lawyers list every year from 2017 through 2025.

Together, John and Les bring a level of strategic awareness that sets their firm apart. As Lynchburg personal injury lawyers, each partner understands the defense playbook intimately and uses that knowledge to anticipate and overcome the obstacles insurers and opposing counsel place in the path of injured clients.
