

H Memorial Group Unifies Memorial Brands Into Single National Network, Expands Specialized Child and Floral Catalogs

Family-owned H Memorial Group serves families and partners from 14 showrooms across 8 states, with direct production, 40 granite types, and installation service

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, June 15, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- H Memorial Group, the family-owned memorial manufacturing organization whose production lineage traces to a workshop founded in 1960, has formally unified its memorial brands into a single coordinated national network, the company announced. The consolidation connects the group's consumer brands — Remembrance

Headstones, Memory Headstones, Memory Stones, Capital Grave Markers and other local brands — with its bronze art division Legacy Bronze and its wholesale and direct-order production platform H-Stones, creating one supply, design, and installation system behind every brand in the portfolio.

Families have always come to the group through different doors depending on budget, location, and the kind of service they want, and that will not change”

H Stones spokesperson

The announcement coincides with a significant expansion of two specialized product catalogs on the H-Stones platform: the children's memorial and the floral headstone categories, both of which the group reports have seen sustained demand growth across its service territory.

The Network Structure

Each brand in the group serves a distinct segment of the American memorial market, while all draw on the same production backbone. Remembrance Headstones

Granite types

(remembranceheadstones.com) operates as the group's premium consumer brand, offering custom granite monuments with private consultations and a luxury showroom experience. Memory Headstones (memoryheadstones.com) serves families seeking personalized memorials with extended financing support, with local teams in Houston, Los Angeles, Sacramento, Seattle, Philadelphia, Orlando, Oklahoma City, Laguna Woods, and Spartanburg. Memory Stones functions as the group's in-stock inventory and fast-delivery brand, while Capital Grave Markers focuses on accessible, economy-tier markers with strong local availability. Legacy Bronze (legacybronze.com) produces cast bronze plaques, niche and crypt panels, vases, and scroll memorials at its foundry operation in Essington, Pennsylvania — all made in America, with complimentary design and cemetery compliance services.

H Stones (hstones.com) anchors the structure as the group's production and wholesale platform, supplying more than 250 B2B partners — monument dealers, funeral homes, and cemeteries — across 12 countries, alongside direct orders from individual families. The platform's catalog spans 20 product categories and more than 40 granite types sourced directly from quarries in India, China, Norway, Finland, Brazil, South Africa, and the United States, with every batch passing a six-stage quality inspection at the group's 5,000-square-meter production facility operating eight production lines.

"Families have always come to the group through different doors depending on budget, location, and the kind of service they want, and that will not change," said a company spokesperson. "What changes is what stands behind every door. One production system, one quality standard, one installation network. A family ordering an economy flat marker and a family commissioning a premium estate monument are now served by the same supply chain, the same inspection process, and the same lifetime guarantee on the stone."

Local Service Across 14 Showrooms and 8 States

The group operates physical showrooms in Sacramento, Carmichael, Glendale, and Hesperia, California; Houston, Texas; Tulsa and Edmond, Oklahoma; and additional locations across Florida, North Carolina, Illinois, New Jersey, and Washington state. Each showroom carries polished granite samples across the material range, with after-hours appointments available at all locations. Families in states without a physical showroom — including Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, South Carolina, Kansas, and Arkansas — receive the same product range, design process, and installation coordination through the group's nationwide online ordering system.

Families searching for grave headstones near me increasingly arrive at the group through that online system, which renders every configured memorial as a full 3D design proof on the actual selected granite surface and offers augmented reality placement of the finished stone at accurate scale in a real environment through a mobile device. The group reports that a majority of orders are now completed entirely online, with the finished memorial identical in every respect to one commissioned across a showroom counter.

Cemetery coordination is included in every standard order across all brands: the group contacts the specific burial location before production begins, confirms section regulations and permitted dimensions, submits required documentation, and schedules foundation preparation and installation through its own certified crews.

Expanded Children's Memorial Catalog

Elephant Heart Baby's Headstone

The group's expanded child headstones catalog addresses what the company describes as the most regulated and most carefully handled category in its production. Children's memorial sections in American cemeteries carry the most restrictive dimensional rules of any section type, and the expanded catalog — including shaped designs such as the Bunny Heart, Teddy Heart, Teddy Oval, and Elephant Heart, alongside compact traditional formats — is engineered around those constraints. Every order in the category begins with direct cemetery verification of the specific infant section's requirements before design work proceeds. Pale granites including Morning Rose and Carrara White are most frequently selected in the category, with ceramic photo medallions available in small oval and heart formats sized to the section regulations.

Expanded Floral Headstone Catalog

The expanded floral headstones catalog reflects sustained demand for permanently carved botanical designs — roses, tulips, lilies, daisies, and custom blooms drawn from flowers significant to the individual family. The category combines deep sandblasted carving, which gives blooms physical dimension and shadow, with laser etching for fine petal detail on polished dark granites. Designs in the catalog include the Heart Shape with Rose and Daisy Heart Upright formats, with custom botanical commissions produced from family photographs and descriptions. The group also reports growing pairing of carved floral designs with matched granite vases, available as configured add-ons from $178, allowing fresh or artificial arrangements to accompany the permanent carved bloom.

Financing, Veteran, and First Responder Programs

Across all brands, the group offers in-house 0% financing up to 12 months with no background credit check, Klarna financing to 24 months, and pre-need installment programs to 36 months interest-free. Veterans receive 30% off with full payment; police officers and all first responders receive 25% off with full payment. A 10% price match guarantee applies to comparable products with comparable service packages. All pricing across the group's platforms is published on product pages, with flat granite markers beginning at $1,600 and upright monuments at $2,240, inclusive of inscriptions, design proof, nationwide delivery, and cemetery coordination.

"The memorial industry has historically asked grieving families to navigate opaque pricing, fragmented service, and processes built for the seller's convenience," the spokesperson said. "The unified network exists to invert that. The price is published. The proof shows the real stone. One organization is accountable from the first message to the installed memorial."

All granite memorials produced through the network carry a lifetime guarantee on the stone. An ongoing StoneCare maintenance program, with professional cleaning and condition reporting on scheduled visits, is available from $150 per service.
