The accreditation scope includes inspections within the food sector, specifically inspections of food retail operations under the Food Store Quality Standard (FSQS) Version 3 program. These inspections assess food safety and quality practices at retail locations, supporting compliance with industry requirements and consumer expectations.

"This accreditation represents an important milestone in the expansion of our inspection services in France," said Dr. Chetan Parmar, SVP Technical Service EU Asia. "It reinforces our commitment to delivering trusted, reliable and accredited inspection services that help food retailers in France demonstrate compliance, strengthen food safety practices and maintain consumer confidence."

The achievement further strengthens FoodChain ID's global certification, inspection, and auditing capabilities across the food supply chain.
