

DocStation Joins IPC's Vendor Advantage Network and Heads to McKesson ideaShare 2026

Newly minted IPC vendor will be at Booth 173 in Denver, June 18–21. Earn more with vaccine billing via the medical benefit this flu season.

AUSTIN, TX, UNITED STATES, June 17, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- DocStation, the leading medical billing infrastructure platform for retail and community pharmacies, today announced two milestones. The company has been named an Authorized Vendor in the Independent Pharmacy Cooperative's (IPC) Pharmacy Vendor Advantage Network and will be exhibiting at McKesson ideaShare 2026 in Denver from June 18–21, 2026. For independent pharmacies administering vaccines, the timing is significant. Flu season is the single highest-volume opportunity to increase revenue for the year, and getting started before the first vaccine shipment hits means more revenue captured for doing the same work.

IPC, the nation's largest group purchasing organization (GPO) owned and operated by independent pharmacies, serves over 2000 GPO members and 7000 independent pharmacy warehouse customers. Through its Vendor Advantage Network, IPC curates a roster of rigorously vetted partners whose products and services are proven to advance the success of independent pharmacy owners. DocStation's addition to that network gives IPC members a trusted, compliant path to start billing vaccines and clinical services to the medical benefit, capturing more revenue during flu season and building sustainable income streams well beyond what PBM reimbursement offers alone. Pharmacies that sign up now have time to get set up before fall demand begins.

DocStation becomes an approved vendor for IPC.

"Pharmacists are the most accessible healthcare professionals in this country, and they deserve to be paid for the services they provide to their communities. Flu season is one of the highest impact opportunities of the year, and for pharmacies not yet billing vaccines to the medical benefit, it is real revenue left on the table every fall. We are proud to join IPC's Vendor Advantage Network to accelerate our shared mission together." says Samm Anderegg, PharmD, CEO of DocStation.

Meet DocStation at McKesson ideaShare 2026 — Booth 173

McKesson ideaShare is the nation's premier community pharmacy event, bringing together independent pharmacists and pharmacy owners for hands-on education, peer networking, and collaborative innovation. This year's conference takes place June 18–21, 2026, at the Colorado Convention Center in Denver, CO.

DocStation will be at Booth 173 throughout the conference, ready to help any pharmacist, technician or owner get started with enhanced vaccine billing before flu season. Pharmacies that sign up during or after ideaShare have a real window to get their accounts set up, automation configured, and first claims submitted before fall demand hits.

Beyond vaccines, DocStation also supports billing for medication management, durable medical equipment (DME), diabetes self-management education (DSMT/DSMES), evaluation and management (E&M) services and more. The team will be on-site to walk through live platform demonstrations and answer real billing questions throughout the conference.

“Flu season is right around the corner. The pharmacies that leave ideaShare with a plan to start billing vaccines to the medical benefit are going to make more this fall. We want every pharmacist who walks by our booth to leave with a clear picture of what is possible, a path to get
