WALNUT, CA, UNITED STATES, June 16, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- WALNUT, CA – June 16, 2026 – Adesso, a leading manufacturer of computer peripherals and professional input devices, proudly announces the official launch of the Xstream P9 and Xstream P9T-TAA headsets. Engineered to meet the rigorous communication demands of modern offices, call centers, and remote working environments, both models deliver exceptional audio clarity, maximum comfort, and seamless device integration.

Xstream P9

The Xstream P9T-TAA also features full TAA compliance, making it an ideal, secure hardware solution for government and enterprise procurement.

Crystal-Clear Audio and Intelligent Controls

The Xstream P9 series features custom-tuned 30mm drivers optimized for vocal clarity, alongside a flexible, noise-isolating microphone that rotates out of the way when not in use. To meet different workflow and privacy requirements, Adesso offers two distinct configurations:

Xstream P9 (Standard): Equipped with an intuitive inline controller for effortless volume adjustment and quick microphone muting.

Xstream P9T-TAA (Push-To-Talk): Designed for secure environments and medical charting, featuring a dedicated Push-to-Talk button. The microphone remains muted by default and only transmits audio while the hardware button is held down.

Universal Connectivity and All-Day Comfort

Eliminating the need for extra adapters, both headsets feature a native USB-C connector alongside bundled USB-A adaptor. This 2-in-1 design ensures instant, driver-free plug-and-play operation across Windows, macOS, ChromeOS, iOS, and Android.

Built for demanding schedules, the lightweight headsets feature an adjustable, reinforced headband and plush, breathable leatherette earpads. The earpads reduce ear fatigue during long shifts and are easily replaceable to extend the product's lifespan.

Pricing and Availability

The Adesso Xstream P9 (MSRP $29.99) and the Xstream P9T-TAA (MSRP $99.99) can be purchased through Adesso.com and authorized government resellers.
