The choices an injured person makes in the first days and weeks after a crash can make a major difference. Getting medical care, evidence, and understanding your rights can help protect your future.”

Greg Baumgartner

Houston personal injury law firm led by attorney Greg Baumgartner, has published a free online guide for people injured in car accidents in Houston and throughout Texas. Unlike common online resources, this guide gives insights drawn from decades of local legal experience, helping crash victims and their families know the critical steps to take after a collision, how insurance claims are handled, and when it may be important to speak with a lawyer.

Car accidents can leave families facing medical bills, lost income, vehicle damage, insurance delays, and uncertainty about their legal rights. What sets this guide apart is its straightforward breakdown of practical steps after a crash, designed for the realities Houston drivers face—including seeking medical attention, reporting the accident, documenting evidence, avoiding early recorded statements, and protecting a potential injury claim.

“After a serious crash, many people are shaken and uncertain what to do next,” said Greg Baumgartner, founder of Baumgartner Law Firm. “This guide was created to give injured Texans clear, practical information at a time when they may be dealing with pain, stress, and pressure from insurance companies.”

The guide answers frequent questions Houston accident victims often have after a wreck, including:

- What to do at the accident scene
- When to seek medical treatment
- How Texas fault rules may affect a claim
- Why photos, witness information, and crash reports matter
- What to avoid saying to insurance adjusters

- When a car accident claim may require legal help

Baumgartner Law Firm represents people injured in car, truck, rideshare, and drunk driving accidents, as well as wrongful death cases. The firm focuses on helping seriously injured clients pursue accountability.

According to Baumgartner, the new resource is remarkable for combining clear education with real-world legal strategies to help accident victims avoid common mistakes that can undermine their claims.

“Insurance companies begin evaluating claims very quickly,” Baumgartner said. “The choices an injured person makes in the first days and weeks after a crash can make a major difference. Getting medical care, preserving evidence, and understanding your rights can help protect your future.”

The Houston car accident guide is available on the Baumgartner Law Firm website and can be accessed by individuals and relatives seeking information after a collision.

Baumgartner Law Firm has decades of experience handling serious injury and wrongful death cases. The firm offers free consultations and works on a contingency fee basis, charging no attorney’s fee unless compensation is recovered.
