

American Blonde's New Music Video For "Mississippi Moonshine" Out Today

American Country Network Premiered This Morning

NASHVILLE, TN, UNITED STATES, June 22, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- American Blonde's new music video for "Mississippi Moonshine" premiered this morning on American Country Network. Filled with urgent dark energy, the video ricochets from time and place with precision. From greyscale to super-saturated color, and from live to studio performances, the clip punches the message through. "Mississippi Moonshine" shows you can take the woman out of the Delta but you can't take the Delta out of her. Resonant, powerful, bluesy and bold, it's a story waiting to be told. Fans can hear about it directly from Mississippi-born American Blonde founders Nata and Tinka Morris.

ABOUT AMERICAN BLONDE

American Blonde is a Mississippi-born band, fronted by sisters Nata and Tinka Morris, that is redefining modern Country by crafting a bold fusion of Rock, Soul and Southern storytelling. They began their musical journey as the teenage sister trio, Southern Halo, and gained attention through television appearances, major festival stages, UK tours, and as finalists in the Ryman Auditorium's artist programs. Entering a new era, American Blonde's current lineup reflects their evolution into a full-band identity featuring Nata (lead vocals, acoustic guitar), Tinka (vocals, drums, percussion), Pete Horne (lead and rhythm guitar), Zach Dickerson (lead and rhythm guitar), and Will Garrett (bass, background vocals). The group is excited to be working with Grammy-nominated producer Lincoln Parish to craft their most ambitious project to date. With their return, American Blonde is not just resuming the conversation, they are now directing it.
