

Consumer response and Telly Awards motivate Hannover House to enter the music distribution arena

Building on the award-winning soundtrack to WILDFIRE, Hannover House announces the release of a music video featuring Cherokee Flutist, Gaby Nagel.

TAHLEQUAH, OK, UNITED STATES, June 20, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Hannover House, Inc. (OTC: HHSE), the indie studio that facilitated the production and distribution of the award-winning family film, "WILDFIRE: The Legend of the Cherokee Ghost Horse," is expanding its reach into the music industry. With a 2026 Telly Award for Best Soundtrack under its belt, Hannover House feels the music video release of the Cherokee language song, "Adaygayudi" is a perfect launch for flutist Gaby Nagel.

"Gaby's songwriting, singing and Cherokee flute skills were the perfect complement to our 'Wildfire' soundtrack, the rest of which was primarily composed by Travis Fite and the legendary singer-songwriter Michael Martin Murphey," said Eric Parkinson, CEO of Hannover House and director of the Wildfire movie. "We had recorded a music track for a key transition scene in the movie, but it was not working well until Gaby offered to add lyrics and her native flute melody. The end result is truly classic and inspirational, and we are excited to have this as the lead track to a debut album featuring Gaby for release later this year."

The music video for "Adaygayudi" was directed by Cherokee Nations member Christian K. Large, and edited by Jon McCallum. Cinematographers were David Huff and Sacha Thomas. Musicians and singers on the track or video include Carol Widder, Travis Fite, Eric Parkinson, Phoenix Ghost, Jabob Walema, Julia Snowbear, Harley Raskey, Chay Nicholas, Ginny Grace Ledbetter and Ashleigh Rainey. Locations for the video included Crisp Recording Studio (Fayetteville, AR), Illinois

River (Cherokee County, Oklahoma) and the Natural Springs State Park (Oklahoma).

Hannover House will launch promotions to encourage viewership and listeners for "Adaygayudi" - including outreach to Native American tribes, and a wide range of broadcasters and media.
