The main heading is "Search Public Property Records Across Arizona". A subtext says "Browse parcel, ownership, valuation, sales, APN, and county-level property information from one starting point." There is a search bar with a magnifying glass icon, a "Search" button, and a URL field containing "https://parcelrecordsusa.com/". To the right is a map of Arizona with Maricopa and Pima counties highlighted. Below the map are icons for "APN", "Sales", and "Value".

ParcelRecordsUSA provides access to Arizona property records, including searchable public property information for Maricopa County and Pima County.

The ParcelRecordsUSA platform is designed to help homeowners, homebuyers, real estate professionals, investors, researchers, and members of the public access property information through a centralized online resource. Users can begin their search at <https://parcelrecordsusa.com/>, which serves as the gateway to state and county property record directories.

Our goal is to make public property records easier to find, search, and understand for homeowners, investors, researchers, and real estate professionals.”

Jennifer Tran - Hieu Nguyen

The Arizona property records section, available at <https://parcelrecordsusa.com/az/>, allows visitors to browse available county property record resources throughout Arizona. The platform currently features dedicated county-level property record search pages for Maricopa County and Pima County, two of the state's most populated counties.

The Maricopa County property records page, located at <https://parcelrecordsusa.com/az/maricopa/property-records/>, provides access to searchable public property information, including searches by address, owner name, APN, parcel number, subdivision, ZIP code, city, and other property-related criteria. The page is designed to help users quickly locate parcel information and related property details.

The Pima County property records page, located at <https://parcelrecordsusa.com/az/pima/property-records/>, offers similar search functionality, allowing users to browse public property records and locate parcel information using property addresses, owner names, parcel numbers, subdivisions, and other available search criteria.

ParcelRecordsUSA is focused on improving the accessibility of public property information by organizing available records into a user-friendly search experience. Depending on data availability, users may find information related to parcel identification numbers, property characteristics, ownership history, sales history, assessed values, land use information, maps, and other public record details.

The platform is designed to serve a wide range of users, including individuals researching a property before purchase, real estate professionals conducting market research, investors evaluating opportunities, and property owners seeking information about their own properties.

As public property information continues to grow in importance for real estate research and decision-making, ParcelRecordsUSA aims to
