CALIFORNIA, CA, UNITED STATES, June 23, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Qingdao— The global demand for premium genius weft hair extensions continues to rise as salons and consumers seek durable, natural-looking solutions for volume and hair loss. In 2026, five Chinese manufacturers have established themselves as key players in supplying the international market, each contributing distinct capabilities to the salon-grade hair extension supply chain.

Industry Context

China, particularly the Shandong and Henan provinces, remains the world's primary production hub for human hair extensions. The genius weft hair extension segment has grown rapidly due to its lightweight, seamless application and compatibility with fine or thinning hair. Industry estimates suggest the global market for such extensions will exceed $1.2 billion by 2027, driven by demand from professional salons in the US and EU.
