A' Interior Space and Exhibition Design Award Recognizes Kan Hui for an Inventive Residential Interior

COMO, CO, ITALY, June 25, 2026

/EINPresswire.com/ -- The A' Design Award has announced Light In Dark by Kan Hui as a Bronze winner in the Interior Space and Exhibition Design category. The A' Interior Space, Retail and Exhibition Design Award is one of the highly respected international competitions promoting excellence and innovation within the interior design field. This recognition acknowledges Light In Dark as a thoughtfully developed example of good design, evaluated against rigorous, pre-established criteria. The honor highlights the careful planning and skillful execution that distinguish the project. For practitioners across the interior design community, such recognition serves as a meaningful benchmark of quality and creativity.

The A' Interior Space, Retail and Exhibition Design Award holds relevance not only for Kan Hui but also for the broader interior industry and the people who inhabit thoughtfully designed spaces. Light In Dark addresses a common contemporary challenge: creating a sense of openness within a compact residential unit. By integrating storage solutions and adaptive lighting, the project aligns with current trends toward personalized, multifunctional living environments. The design demonstrates how careful material selection and layered illumination can meet practical needs without compromising comfort. These qualities offer useful reference points for designers, homeowners, and other stakeholders seeking functional and refined interiors.

Light In Dark pairs gray and black elements with varied lighting effects to establish distinct atmospheres throughout the home, an approach reflected in its name. Amber tones serve as a balancing element within the predominantly dark palette, adding warmth and visual contrast. Each room features independent lighting, breaking away from single-source limitations and adapting to different activities and times of day. Storage is integrated discreetly through glass doors, a raised platform, and a combination cabinet, allocating the master bedroom for clothing and Room A for displaying the homeowner's collectibles, while the living room showcases trophies and medals. Every material was selected for its tactile quality, and a smart panel governs the lighting scene modes.

This recognition through the A' Design Award may encourage Kan Hui and the team at Arm Studio to continue exploring the interplay of darkness, light, and material in residential design. The honor offers motivation to refine personalized approaches that respond closely to each client's lifestyle and collections. By demonstrating that gray and black palettes can feel inviting rather than oppressive, the project may inspire further experimentation within the studio's future work. Such recognition supports ongoing dedication to thoughtful detail and quality of life.
