Together, they will create evenings filled with meaningful worship, genuine connection, and a powerful reminder of God's truth.

"When we launched The Truth Tour, I prayed that these songs would help people discover who God says they are and experience His love in a personal way," Woods shares. "Seeing that happen night after night has been incredible, and I'm thrilled to bring The Truth Tour back this fall. These evenings are about worship, encouragement, and declaring God's truth over our lives together. I'm so excited to have Jeremy Rosado joining me, and I believe God has more stories to write, more lives to touch, and more moments in store for us this fall."

About Megan Woods:

Megan Woods is from a small town in northern Massachusetts where God planted a love for music in her at a young age. Although she was raised in a loving Christian family, she did not have a personal relationship with God. Throughout her life, Megan wrestled with self worth and believing she was worthy of love. She felt like no matter where she turned, she was never good enough. Those struggles led Megan to the lowest point in her life. In that moment of desperation, Megan received a phone call from one of her closest friends explaining that they just had a near death experience. Her friend said to her "Megan, Jesus Christ is real." In her darkest, most vulnerable moment, Jesus saved her life.

Megan's life was altered from that moment on. She began attending church, studying the Word, and even leading worship. God changed every aspect of her life for the better. Shortly after, God spoke to Megan and revealed that singing for Jesus was her life's purpose. Megan explains, "It was the most intense feeling I've ever experienced. It wasn't like God was poking me, he was grabbing me by the shoulders and calling me to do something larger than I could even imagine. Now I want nothing more than to tell people about Jesus through my music and share the story of the work God has done in my life."

Developing her relationship with Christ through songwriting began the process of healing. Leaning into God's love after coming from a place of worthlessness is a theme of all of the songs Megan writes. "I hope people come to know Jesus in the way I've come to know Him," Woods says. "A lot of people talk about how we need to love God, but I want people to realize God loves them! Sometimes we forget that He loved us first."

Woods' debut single "The Truth," is a driving piano ballad that showcases her powerhouse alto vocals and is a deeply personal proclamation. "This song is my life story," Woods says. "I wanted to write a song that is a reminder for people every day of who they are in Jesus. We don't belong to the lies, we belong to God, that's the truth. When the lies are closing in, this song can remind them of the truth."

Megan Woods signed a record deal in 2022 with Fair Trade Services (MercyMe, Phil Wickham), signed with booking agency Jeff Roberts Agency and is managed by Jason Davis and his team at Noble Management.
