Noemi Wooten Godínez initiated her career in the medical and beauty industry in 2010 as a medical aesthetician. The approach at NV Regenerative Aesthetics incorporates established techniques such as biostimulators and plasma-based resurfacing, alongside targeted use of vitamins and peptides. Complementary wellness modalities include meditation, breathwork, and sound healing, aimed at supporting nervous system regulation and cellular coherence. Additionally, Noemi is developing a proprietary beauty code protocol, which features subconscious reprogramming meditations developed using advanced frequency work. These meditations are intended to amplify natural regeneration, assist in the release of stress and insecurity, and support nervous system equilibrium, optimizing the body's intrinsic repair systems. The practice also facilitates UNA Vitality Retreats, providing a group setting for participants to engage in wellness and transformational practices.

"Our objective is to move beyond conventional aesthetics by focusing on the body's inherent ability to regenerate and maintain health," said Noemi Wooten Godínez, Founder of NV Regenerative Aesthetics. "We integrate evidence-based medical treatments with holistic practices to offer a comprehensive approach that supports both physical appearance and internal well-being."
