

BERKSHIRE HATHAWAY HOMESERVICES NEW ENGLAND PROPERTIES BRINGS HISTORIC, MULTI-GENERATIONAL HINDINGER FARM TO MARKET

The approx. 120-acre agricultural property in Hamden, CT offers the rare opportunity to acquire one of Southern Connecticut's longest-operating family farms

HARTFORD, CT, UNITED STATES, July 1, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- After more than 130 years of continuous operation, Hindinger Farm – one of Southern Connecticut's longest-running family farms – has come to market for $3.1 million. Listed by Berkshire Hathaway HomeServices \(BHHS\) New England Properties agent Sally Bowman, the approximately 120-acre property spans multiple parcels along Dunbar Hill Road and Cooper Lane in Hamden, offering a rare opportunity to acquire a fully operational agricultural business with deep roots in the region.

Hindinger Farm in Hamden, Connecticut

Founded in 1893, Hindinger Farm includes a circa-1912 farmhouse, a long-established farm stand and retail operation, barns, warehouses, agricultural support buildings, equipment storage, employee housing, ponds, productive farmland, wooded acreage, and extensive infrastructure that has supported generations of farming.

“Hindinger Farm represents a truly unique opportunity to own one of Connecticut's most established agricultural properties,” said Bowman. “Properties of this scale, history and operational readiness rarely become available. Whether a buyer is looking to continue the farm's longstanding legacy or expand into new agricultural ventures, the infrastructure and location create exceptional potential.”

The property's existing improvements support a wide range of agricultural enterprises, including produce and specialty crop production, flower farming, agritourism, educational programming, vineyards and wineries, Christmas tree farming, orchards, equestrian facilities, specialty livestock operations and farm-to-table experiences, subject to applicable approvals. The offering combines productive farmland with open fields, wooded acreage and ponds, providing flexibility for future agricultural uses while preserving the property's longstanding farming heritage.

Ideally located just minutes from downtown New Haven, Yale University, and major transportation corridors, Hindinger Farm offers convenient access to regional markets while maintaining the privacy and character of a working farm. Its combination of established operations, extensive infrastructure and strategic location positions the property as a rare investment opportunity within Connecticut's agricultural landscape.

"This is much more than a land offering," Bowman added. "Hindinger Farm is an established business, a recognized regional brand and a property with deep roots in the community. Opportunities to acquire a farm with this level of history, infrastructure and future potential are exceptionally rare."

Additional offering materials, including aerial photography, parcel maps, soil information and Agricultural Development Rights documentation, are available upon request for qualified buyers. Showings are by appointment only and must be accompanied by the listing agent due to active farming operations.
