We work hard, have a lot of fun together, and always hold each other accountable to reach our goals.”

Myra Corbin

At 500 Republic, professional development, mentorship, and long-term growth remain a priority. While business results and client outcomes are important measures of performance, the people behind those results play an equally important role in shaping the organization.

As 500 Republic continues to grow in Indianapolis, team member feedback offers a closer look at the culture, relationships, and development opportunities that contribute to the company's success.

One team member, Myra Corbin, points to workplace culture as one of the most rewarding aspects of her experience with the company.

"I love working at 500 Republic for so many reasons, but the biggest one is the culture. Our office truly feels like a family. We work hard, have a lot of fun together, and always hold each other accountable to reach our goals. It's motivating to be surrounded by people who push you to be better every single day."

In addition to culture, Myra credits the leadership and mentorship she has received as a meaningful part of her professional development.

"Christian has done an incredible job setting the tone for the entire office and leading by example. He's been a great mentor to me both professionally and personally, and I've learned so much from him."

Her experience reflects one of the core principles at 500 Republic: creating an environment where individuals can continue developing their skills while building meaningful professional relationships.

Justin Roberts shares a similar perspective, highlighting both the atmosphere and the people who make up the organization.

"I love working at 500 Republic because of the atmosphere and the people I surround myself with here. The atmosphere is second to none, being able to walk in every day with a giant smile on my face is the only way I ever want to start a day."

He also emphasizes the importance of helping others succeed alongside his own professional growth.

"Being able to work with some of my closest friends and help them reach their goals each and every day makes my dreams come true."

These firsthand perspectives reflect the values that continue to shape 500 Republic's workplace culture. Collaboration, accountability, mentorship, and professional development remain central to the way team members support one another as they work toward individual and collective goals.

The impact of that culture extends beyond the workplace. Team members who feel supported, challenged, and invested in are often better equipped to represent clients effectively and contribute to consistent results. Through leadership development and ongoing coaching, 500 Republic continues building a team prepared to grow alongside the business.

By sharing authentic employee perspectives, 500 Republic aims to provide greater transparency for individuals exploring career opportunities and seeking a better understanding of the company's culture and values.
