

Octave Holdings & Investments and Strategic Partner BNW Developments Champion Community and Collaboration at AAPICON 26

TAMPA, FL, UNITED STATES, July 1, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Octave Holdings & Investments (Octave HI) will participate in AAPICON 2026 in Tampa, Florida, joining ~2000 thousand physicians, healthcare leaders, and industry professionals from across the United States. This year's participation also includes Octave's strategic partner, BNW Developments from Dubai, reflecting a shared commitment to fostering global collaboration, investment, and community impact.

Founded in 1982, the American Association of Physicians of Indian Origin (AAPI) represents more than 120,000 physicians and medical students, making it the largest ethnic medical organization in the United States. Its annual convention, AAPICON, serves as a premier forum for advancing healthcare innovation, leadership, policy discussions, and professional collaboration while celebrating the contributions of Indian-origin physicians to American healthcare.

"It is an honor to serve in a leadership capacity at AAPICON, the largest ethnic medical organization in the United States, representing more than 120,000 physicians and medical students," said Dr. Amit Chakrabarty, MD, President, AAPI Annual Convention. "This platform reflects our collective commitment to advancing healthcare, fostering collaboration, and driving meaningful impact at scale."

"The AAPI physician community embodies excellence, resilience, and service," said Zia Rahman,

Chief Strategy Officer of Octave Holdings & Investments. "Our participation at AAPICON reflects our belief that collaboration across healthcare, real estate, and global investment can create meaningful opportunities and lasting impact."

"At Octave, we believe community is the foundation of meaningful progress," said Sridhar Marupudi, Chief Executive Officer of Octave Holdings & Investments. "AAPICON represents the remarkable contributions of Indian physicians to the U.S. healthcare system, and we are honored to engage with a community that continues to shape the future of healthcare."

Joining Octave at the convention are its partners, UAE based real estate development firm BNW Developments, reinforcing a shared vision to connect healthcare, business, and international investment opportunities.

Dr. (CA) Ankur Aggarwal, Chairman and Founder of BNW Developments, said: "AAPICON is in its 44th edition this year, and that speaks volumes about the depth and resilience of a community that has spent decades shaping the future of American healthcare. The strongest partnerships are built on trust, common values, and a genuine investment in each other's progress. That is what brings us here, and that is what we intend to honor."

Dr. Vivek Anand Oberoi, Managing Director and Co-Founder of BNW Developments, said: "The Indian physicians in America have built a bridge between two nations, two cultures, and two definitions of what it means to serve. That is the same spirit that drives everything we do at BNW. Our partnership with Octave is rooted in that conviction, and AAPICON is exactly the kind of platform where meaningful, long-term relationships are forged."
