ODENTON, MD — July 2026 — Women of Reason, Inc. proudly announces its first official press release, celebrating a year of leadership milestones, national speaking engagements, and continued commitment to developing leaders and transforming organizational culture.

Founded by executive leadership consultant Antonia Reason, Women of Reason, Inc. partners with government agencies, nonprofit organizations, and public-sector leaders to strengthen leadership, improve workplace culture, and create sustainable organizational excellence.

With more than 24 years of executive leadership experience in juvenile justice and corrections, Reason has built a career centered on leadership development, operational excellence, and public service. Throughout her career, she broke barriers by becoming the first Hispanic woman to serve as Deputy Secretary within her agency and the youngest person promoted to the ranks of Sergeant, Lieutenant, Captain, and Superintendent. Born and raised in East New York, Brooklyn, she continues to inspire others through a leadership philosophy rooted in integrity, resilience, and service.

In 2026, Women of Reason reached several significant milestones, including the launch of its Women's Leadership Program, the publication of new leadership development resources, and Reason's achievement of becoming a Certified Human Rights Consultant.

Reason has also been selected to present at five professional conferences this year, sharing expertise on ethical leadership, organizational culture, leadership development, and creating high-performing organizations. Her presentations bring practical strategies that empower leaders to build stronger teams, improve accountability, and foster positive workplace environments.

"Our mission has always been greater than leadership training," said Antonia Reason, Founder and CEO of Women of Reason, Inc. "We exist to develop courageous leaders, transform organizational culture, and create lasting impact within the organizations and communities we serve. Every milestone represents another opportunity to equip leaders to make a meaningful difference."

Women of Reason offers executive coaching, leadership development, organizational assessments, strategic planning, keynote presentations, and customized training programs designed to help organizations strengthen leadership capacity and improve performance.

As Women of Reason continues its national growth, the organization remains committed to empowering current and future leaders with practical tools, innovative strategies, and the confidence to lead with purpose.

"This press release is more than a celebration of accomplishments," Reason added. "It represents the beginning of a larger vision—to build leaders who inspire others, strengthen organizations, and leave a legacy that extends far beyond their titles."
