

HealthBest.org Recognizes Three Top-Tier Mental Health Providers in Southern California

Elevated Healing (addiction), Angeles Psychology Group (psychotherapy), and OC Psychiatrists (cash-pay psychiatry) earn top-tier recognition.

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, July 3, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- HealthBest.org, a national healthcare rankings and directory platform, today announced the selection of three Southern California practices as top-tier mental health providers: Elevated Healing Treatment Centers, recognized for addiction treatment; Angeles Psychology Group, recognized for mental health care and psychotherapy; and OC Psychiatrists, recognized as a leading cash-pay psychiatry group in Orange County.

The selections reflect HealthBest.org's ongoing effort to help patients and families identify trusted, high-quality behavioral health care across the region. Each provider was evaluated against a consistent set of criteria, including clinical quality and the credentials of its care team, the breadth and depth of services offered, patient accessibility and experience, and overall reputation and standing within the community it serves. Providers named to the top tier represent practices that demonstrate a sustained commitment to evidence-based, patient-centered care.

Mental health and addiction care are among the most consequential decisions a person or family can make, and the right provider makes a meaningful difference. HealthBest.org's rankings are designed to reduce the friction patients face when searching for reputable care, particularly in a region as large and varied as Southern California, where the number of options can make an already difficult search more overwhelming.

Southern California is home to one of the most extensive behavioral health markets in the country, spanning inpatient and outpatient addiction treatment, individual and group psychotherapy, psychiatric evaluation, and medication management. HealthBest.org's recognition is intended to spotlight practices that stand out not only for the services they provide, but for the consistency, transparency, and patient focus with which they deliver them. The three practices named today serve distinct but complementary needs across the mental health continuum.

Elevated Healing Treatment Centers — Addiction Treatment

Elevated Healing Treatment Centers is recognized as a top-tier provider for addiction treatment in Southern California. The practice focuses on helping individuals and families navigate substance use disorders through structured, clinically grounded care designed to support recovery at every stage. Its programming reflects an understanding that addiction is a complex condition requiring both medical and psychological support, rather than a single intervention.

Elevated Healing's approach centers on individualized treatment planning, meeting each person where they are and building a path forward that accounts for the full picture of their circumstances. The center emphasizes a supportive, dignity-centered environment in which patients can address the underlying drivers of substance use while developing the tools and coping strategies necessary for sustained recovery. Care is delivered by a team experienced in evidence-based modalities and committed to the long-term wellbeing of those they serve.

What distinguishes Elevated Healing is its commitment to treating the whole person, addressing co-occurring mental health needs alongside substance use, and supporting patients as they transition through the phases of treatment and back into daily life. For patients and families seeking a trustworthy partner in addiction recovery, Elevated Healing Treatment Centers represents a resource grounded in clinical rigor and genuine care.
