Why It Matters for SMEs

For small and growing businesses, HR software has traditionally come with a per-seat pricing model that makes growth expensive. A team of five, ten, or twenty employees faces a different bill each month as headcount changes.

Ctrl+Grow's free plan removes that model entirely. One flat rate — zero — regardless of how many employees are added. The same applies to paid plans: pricing is per company, never per user.

The platform is designed to require no technical setup, no prompt-writing, and no AI expertise. Teams use the tools the same way they would any other business software — and when a question comes up, the Ctrl+Grow team answers directly.

Free Forever — Upgrade Only When You Need More

The free plan has no expiry and no feature degradation over time. Businesses that need additional functionality — support ticketing, team roles and permissions, or a done-for-you company website — can upgrade to a paid plan at $97 / month or $897 / year, both priced per company, not per user.

New tools ship every month. Free-plan users receive all new free features as they launch, with no action required.

Availability

The Ctrl+Grow free plan is available now at ctrlgrow.com. Sign-up takes minutes. No card required.
