Vitrine Delumini

The recognition of Vitrine Delumini carries relevance for retailers, designers, and visitors who seek more engaging commercial environments. By demonstrating how spatial context and color shape product perception, the project speaks directly to current interest in experiential retail design. The work moves away from the conventional white and minimal commercial interior, offering an alternative that informs contemporary display strategies. For the industry, it provides a practical reference for organizing inventory into coherent, character-driven zones. For customers and professionals alike, the design enhances the appreciation of furniture through deliberate environmental contrast.

Vitrine Delumini presents furniture within a large-scale store in Brazil, organized into distinct zones that heighten the perception of each product. A rich burgundy area showcases special, standout pieces, intensifying their colors and creating striking contrasts. A white section features neutral, versatile products against a backdrop that emphasizes form and detail. A third, darker-toned space highlights furniture and items with deeper hues, completing a curated and visually coherent presentation. The design combined careful color studies, material selection, and spatial composition so that each piece stands out without visual conflict, resulting in a balanced and immersive exhibition experience.

The Bronze A' Design Award recognition may encourage further exploration of color and spatial context in commercial settings for Thiago Mondini and the wider studio. Research conducted during the project, including spatial analysis, mock-ups, material testing, and staff and visitor feedback, revealed that distinct zones improve product visibility and appreciation. These insights offer a foundation for future projects that examine how environmental contrast informs retail display and visitor engagement. The award serves as motivation for continued attention to detail and considered design thinking. It reinforces a commitment to creating spaces that connect aesthetics with practical purpose.

Project Members

Vitrine Delumini was designed by architect Thiago Mondini, who led the spatial concept, color studies, and material selection that define the exhibition.

About Thiago Mondini

Thiago Mondini is a young Brazilian architect who works mainly with highly personalized interior design projects, alongside architectural projects such as residences and corporate interiors. When creating unique interior design projects, Thiago seeks to capture the personality of clients in order to project that essence onto the spaces. As a result, no two projects look alike, even though an underlying line of work connects all of his creations. In Thiago's view, the symbolic function of architecture and the way it gives meaning to daily life is as important as the utilitarian functions of a design.

About Thiago Mondini Arquitetura

Thiago Mondini Arquitetura is a Brazilian architecture and interior design firm established in Blumenau. With an extensive practice in residential projects and interior design, the company also works with corporate, commercial, and public designs. Each project receives a highly personalized and distinctive approach that reflects the values of its clients. The firm balances aesthetic expression with functional purpose across diverse commissions.

About the Bronze A' Design Award Recognition

The Bronze A' Design Award is granted to notable designs that demonstrate a high degree of creativity and practicality. It acknowledges the dedication and skill of designers whose work stands out for thoughtful development and considered use of materials and technology. Evaluated against criteria including innovative use of space, material selection, functional layout, color scheme mastery, lighting proficiency, sustainable practice, cultural relevance, aesthetic appeal, ergonomic consideration, and attention to detail, recognized designs reflect professional execution and the potential to influence industry standards positively. The designation reflects a balance of form and function that offers meaningful improvements to everyday experience. It is a respected achievement that highlights technical competence combined with creative skill.

About A' Design Award
