

Endeavor Communications Expands with New Stamford, Connecticut Office

Boutique PR firm deepens roots in Fairfield County's financial and business corridor

STAMFORD, CT, UNITED STATES, July 7, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Endeavor Communications, a boutique public relations firm serving clients across financial services, commercial real estate, digital assets, climate and energy, legal and professional services, and B2B technology, today announced the opening of a new office in the Harbor Point neighborhood of Stamford, Connecticut.

Stamford sits at the intersection of two worlds our clients live in every day."

Matthew Yemma

The expansion reflects Endeavor's continued growth since its founding in 2025 and positions the firm closer to a concentrated base of asset managers, financial institutions, and professional services firms located throughout Fairfield County and the broader New York metro area.

"Stamford sits at the intersection of two worlds our clients live in every day — the financial rigor of New York and the relationship-driven culture of Connecticut's business community," said Matthew Yemma, Founder and Managing Partner of Endeavor Communications. "Harbor Point in particular has become a magnet for the kind of ambitious, growth-minded firms we love working with. Opening an office here lets us be closer to the people we serve and the partners we work alongside, while continuing to deliver the same hands-on, credibility-first approach that has defined Endeavor since day one."

Since its launch, Endeavor has built a client roster spanning boutique asset managers, real estate operators, and emerging technology and digital asset firms, with recent engagements including credibility-building media campaigns, thought leadership placement, and strategic communications counsel for founders and executives navigating high-stakes visibility moments.

The Harbor Point office will serve as a hub for new business development and client relationship management in the region, with Endeavor continuing to serve clients nationally.

About Endeavor Communications

Endeavor Communications is a boutique public relations firm founded in 2025 by Matthew Yemma, providing strategic communications, media relations, and thought leadership counsel to clients in financial services, commercial real estate, digital assets, climate and energy, legal and
